A festive Wrenbury Weekly...

We have had a wonderful week this week, filled with all things Christmas! This week has seen our Little Wrens children share their 'We are going on a baby hunt' nativity. The children were fabulous, they shared their nativity with pride, and all spoke so well. Thank you, Little Wrens!

Key Stage 1 also shared their Nativity this week, sharing three productions in total- you must all be exhausted! You learnt so many songs which we all enjoyed listening to. It really was lovely to see the children's beaming faces as they shared their production with friends and family. Now it is really starting to feel like Christmas.

This week KS2 also enjoyed a Christmas Panto from Cheshire College. Their production of 'Where the Wild Things Are' was very much enjoyed by all the children. The students from the college were a pleasure to host- we hope to welcome them back next year. As well as this, the children have been completing their beautiful Learning Journey books, Base 5 have been creating air raid shelters and designing modern buildings, Base 1 visited the post office to post their letters to Santa and Base 3 explained to me that they have been very proud of their writing this week. Well done everyone.
